Welcome

Congratulations on choosing the University of Innsbruck for your studies abroad. Getting to know new people and places is an exciting experience and opens ones horizons beyond compare. We look forward to welcoming you and sincerely hope your stay in Austria will be a pleasant and rewarding one.

This guide was primarily conceived with Socrates-Erasmus students in mind though we have tried our best to deal with the relevant issues for all incoming students and to eliminate every obstacle on your way to Innsbruck University. There is however always room for improvement and we are grateful for your suggestions and of course ready to help whenever necessary.

I. General Information

Austria lies in the heart of southern Central Europe having common borders with eight other countries and covers a total area of 84.000 km<sup>2</sup> which makes it a little larger than Scotland and smaller than Portugal. Austria is 590 km long east-west and 290 km north-south at its broadest point. The landscape varies considerably. Two thirds of the country are dominated by the Eastern Alps, these being heavily wooded. In the alpine foreland forests are replaced to a great extent by arable land, especially on the northern edge of the Alps. In the Pannonian region of the East scrub and heathland are characteristic. To the very east Lake Neusiedl in Burgenland shows typical salt steppe flora. The Danube flows some 220 miles (350 km) through Austria on its way to the Black Sea. In the west the Rhine forms part of the border as does Lake Constance. The highest mountain is the Grossglockner with its 12,465 feet (3.797 m).

Geography

Austria lies in the Central European transitional climatic zone, with prevailing west-northwest winds. In West Austria temperature fluctuations are more moderate between day and night and between summer and winter than in the East where a more continental Pannonian climate prevails. Rain and snowfall is adequate throughout the year, decreasing gradually west to east. The higher mountain regions are dominated by the characteristic features of the alpine climate (high precipitation, short summers and long winters).

Climate

A special feature of our alpine weather is the "Föhn", a warm, gusty storm-wind which plunges into the valleys of the northern Alps, especially in spring and autumn. Innsbruck is a well-known "Föhn" area with roughly 64 "Föhn" days a year. Innsbruck has cold to very cold winters (temperatures can sink below -20o) hopefully with lots of snow and warm to hot summers (temperatures can climb to 30o) hopefully with lots of sunshine.

With 8 million inhabitants (90 per km<sup>2</sup>) Austria is thinly populated compared to other European countries. This is due to the fact that 60 % of the Alps are uninhabited. Half the population live in cities, almost 20 % of them in Vienna, the capital. Other major cities are Linz, Graz, Salzburg and Innsbruck. 98 % of the Austrian population speak

Population

German as their native language. Six ethnic groups are officially recognized living mainly in border areas. According to Austrian law every young person over the age of fourteen can choose his or her religion freely. At the moment roughly 78 % of the Austrian population are Roman Catholic and 5 % are Protestant.

Government

Until 1918 Austria was an empire then becoming a republic. Now Austria is geographically and politically divided into nine provinces governed by a parliamentary democracy. The Austrian federal Parliament consists of two houses:

1. The "Nationalrat" (National Council) in which at the moment four parties are represented: Socialist Party (SPÖ), Christian-democratic Party (ÖVP), Liberal Party (FPÖ) and the Green Party (Grüne). These members are elected by the people for a period of four years.
2. The "Bundesrat" (Federal Council) into which the members are appointed by the individual provinces.

The "Neutrality Act" of 26 October 1956 bound Austria to permanent neutrality. On 1 January 1995 Austria entered the European Union after approval by the Austrian people in a referendum.

City of Innsbruck

The name "Innsbruck" originates from a bridge over the River Inn, first built in the 12th Century. Developing due to its opportune geographical position Innsbruck has always been an important junction of trade routes both north-south and east-west. These routes have since become an enormous burden to the population because of the environmental pollution caused.

Archaeological excavations have confirmed settlements as far back as the Stone Age. Where the road from the Brenner Pass reaches the Inn Valley the Roman fortification Veldidena (now the Innsbruck district Wilten) was built. In 1239 Innsbruck was granted city status with the corresponding rights. In 1363 the province Tyrol became part of Austria. A hey-day followed climaxing in the reign of Emperor Maximilian I (1459–1519) who made Innsbruck the main residence for the Habsburg family. The world famous "Goldene Dachl" (Golden Roof) in the old town centre reminds us of him. He had it built on the occasion of his marriage with Bianca Maria Sforza of Milan. While still alive he made plans for his last resting place in the Hofkirche with its famous, oversized bronze statues "Schwarze Mander" (the Black Knights).

Ferdinand II and his wife Philippine Welser made the town a cultural focal point. The finest pieces of his collections can be seen in Schloss Ambras (Ambras Castle). Under the Bavarian rule of Tyrol (1806-1814) battles of liberation were fought, the most famous was on the Bergisel in Innsbruck under the leadership of the national hero Andreas Hofer.

Tyrol has always been a popular destination for tourists. The capital city, Innsbruck, with its approx. 130,000 inhabitants is surrounded by a picturesque panorama of mountain peaks, several of which can be reached by cable cars offering a superb view of Innsbruck and the surrounding area. The Innsbruck region gives abundant leisure opportunities all year round. In summer mountain-climbing, hiking, mountain-biking, rafting, canyoning and paragliding, in winter downhill and cross-country skiing, ice-skating, snowboarding and even bobsleighting on the Olympic run at Igls.

The name Innsbruck has been synonymous with winter sports since it hosted the Winter Olympics in 1964 and 1976.

As a popular venue for congresses, trade shows and cultural performances Innsbruck attracts many visitors, including well-known artists and musicians. Thanks to the ever-growing number of young people and the young-at-heart, Innsbruck has developed an interesting "scene" over the past several years. There are therefore a number of cultural initiatives, theatre groups and, of course, a good number of student "hang-outs" and cafés. From classical to techno – there's something for everyone in Innsbruck.

Innsbruck is easily reached by train, plane and car and offers extensive public transport. From the airport you can take the bus "F" (every 15 minutes) into the town centre which passes the University main building on the way. If you come by car please note that you must buy a Vignette to use Austrian motorways and that long-term parking is almost impossible in Innsbruck.

General description

With almost 2,500 members of staff and 23,000 students the University of Innsbruck is western Austria's largest institution of higher education and research and serves as the home university for Tyrol, Vorarlberg, South Tyrol and Liechtenstein. Due to the geographical situation the emphasis in research and study programmes can be found on social, ecological and economic issues of the alpine region.

The University of Innsbruck is one of Austria's oldest universities. Its history goes back to the year 1562, when a Jesuit secondary school was founded in Innsbruck. Emperor Leopold I founded a "real" university on October 15 1669, ensuring its continued funding by imposing a special tax on salt mined in Hall, known as the "Hall Salt Surcharge". Eight years later in 1677 the official charter was signed and four faculties of higher learning were established. The following 150 years saw turmoil and change. The city of Innsbruck twice lost the privilege of having its own university. Emperor Franz I restored the privilege and 1826 saw the final re-opening of the Faculty of Philosophy and the Faculty of Law. Step by step the other faculties were also re-opened. Since then the University has its name "Leopold-Franzens-Universität Innsbruck".

The last two faculties were added: in 1969 when classes began at the Faculty of Engineering and Architecture, and in 1976 when the Faculty of Social and Economic Sciences branched off from the then Faculty of Law and Political Science.

Four professors of the University received the Nobel Prize during the 20th century: Fritz Pregl for developing techniques in microanalysis of organic compounds, Adolf Windaus for discovering the composition of sterols and their relation to vitamins, Hans Fischer for synthesizing hemin, and Victor Franz Hess for discovering cosmic radiation. The University of Innsbruck is a public university with tuition fees. Free tuition is granted to students coming within international, EU-, state- or university mobility programmes, as well as to students from Albania, Belarus, Bulgaria, Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Lithuania, Moldavia, Poland, Slovakia, Slovenia and Turkey. These countries have reciprocal agreements with Austria.

Faculties

Faculty of Catholic Theology

Faculty of Law

Faculty of Social and Economic Sciences

Faculty of Arts and Letters

Faculty of Natural Sciences

Faculty of Engineering and Architecture

Faculty of Medicine became the Medical University of Innsbruck on 1st January 2004

In accordance with the University Law 2002 extensive structural changes are expected in the near future.

The oldest university is the University of Vienna, founded in 1365 by Duke Rudolf IV. In Austria all universities were state institutions, however private universities have been opened since 1999. There are 19 state universities. The old universities of Vienna, Graz and Innsbruck are called full universities offering a complete study programme with faculty structure. Vienna University is with 66.000 domestic students not only the largest Austrian university but also one of the largest universities in Europe. The newer universities in Linz, Salzburg and Klagenfurt do not have so broad a scope of study programmes. There are also technical universities both in Vienna and Graz as well as a number of specialized universities such as the Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration or the Montan University of Leoben, for mining and engineering, as well as several Academies of Art and Music. On 1st January 2004 the Faculties of Medicine in Vienna, Graz and Innsbruck were made Medical Universities.

In 1993 a new type of higher education was introduced in the form of colleges (Fachhochschulen). These colleges offer a more practice-orientated education on university standard, above all in the fields of business, tourism, technology, telecommunications and administration. The minimum duration of these studies is three years. In October 2001 the Austrian government introduced tuition fees of either € 363,36 or € 726,72 per semester.

At present it is possible to study one of over 120 different subjects in Austria. We distinguish between bachelor, magister, diploma and doctoral studies.

Academic structure and titles

Traditionally the diploma and doctoral studies were offered. During the last years bachelor and magister studies have been introduced in adaptation to European standards. This equalization has led to a harmonization and also competitiveness with these countries.

The diploma study is divided into 2 or 3 sections and lasts 4 – 6 years on an average.

These sections are subdivided into compulsory, obligatory chosen and freely chosen subjects. Each section is completed by a diploma exam. The admission to the final diploma exam is only possible after approbation of the dissertation (diploma thesis).

Bachelor studies last 3 – 4 years. At least 2 bachelor papers have to be written and the title is gained by passing the bachelor examination.

Academic structure and titles

Magister studies, lasting 1 – 2 years, can only be started after completion of Bachelor studies. Emphasis is laid on the magister paper and it ends with a magister examination.

Doctoral studies last at least 2 years and follow after either diploma or magister studies. Doctoral studies include a dissertation (doctoral thesis) and Rigorosum (oral doctoral examination).

- Magister/Magistra (Mag)
- Diplom-Ingenieur (D-I) for students of the Faculty of Engineering and Architecture
- Bakkalaureus/Bakkalaurea (Bakk)
- Doktor/in (Dr)
- Master of Advanced Studies (MAS) and Master of Business Administration (MBA) are titles awarded after finishing special study programmes offered by the university.

Academic Calendar

Under www2.uibk.ac.at/fakten/akademisches\_jahr you will find the Academic Calendar. The University's academic year is based on two semesters. Generally the first semester is from 1st October – 31st January and the second semester is from 1st March – 30th June with the usual holidays. Please note that in February no courses are held. The Erasmus Welcome is held on the first day of each semester at 5 p.m. in the Aula of the old University building.

Courses

On the whole the courses are held in German. A full list of studies at Innsbruck University can be found under: <http://www2.uibk.ac.at/studienabteilung/de/studienmoeglichkeiten.html>. Detailed information about the courses can be found on our University website: www2.uibk.ac.at/fakultaeten and www.uibk.ac.at/lehre/lzk for the course catalogue.

Should the information not yet be available for the semester you are coming, please use the information of the previous year as a general guideline and contact your coordinator in Innsbruck for confirmation. In Innsbruck the system is fairly flexible, but participation in courses may be subject to preconditions or restrictions in some cases.

The teaching system is defined by various classes: lectures (VO), practical exercises (UE), proseminars (PS) and seminars (SE) which last one semester. Most lectures are held in units of two hours a week (1 hour = 45 minutes). Registration is not necessary and attendance is not always compulsory but advisable. Assessment is made by either an oral or written exam at the end of semester. Practical exercises vary depending on the subject, the emphasis is on active participation. Seminars are mainly group discussions on an advanced level. Students write and present seminar papers which serve as a basis for discussion. In proseminars students acquire basic knowledge of work on academic/scientific papers by active participation. Privatissima (PV) are research seminars for students working on their thesis.

The ECTS system has been introduced at the Faculty of Social and Economic Sciences and is being introduced into the other fields of studies at Innsbruck University.

Learning achievement is tested either by an oral/written examination or by a paper. The assessment is made in grades (1 very good, 2 good, 3 satisfactory, 4 sufficient, 5 not sufficient/fail).

III. Admission Procedures

Application for Admission

Admission for Exchange students

If you are coming to Innsbruck within the Socrates/Erasmus programme you must be officially nominated by your Erasmus Coordinator at home. The application forms included in this guide are for exchange programme students only. Since you will be coming within the framework of an exchange programme you do not pay tuition fees and simpler application modalities are effective.

Deadline is the end of the general registration period "Allgemeine Zulassungsfrist". See www2.uibk.ac.at/fakten/akademisches\_jahr. We strongly advise you to send your application forms as soon as possible to avoid complications.

Admission for Freemovers

The University Admission Department is responsible for your acceptance at Innsbruck University. On their homepage you will find under www.uibk.ac.at/c101/Studienabteilung "Zulassung zum Studium" a brochure with all the necessary details and conditions for admission, as well as the application form. Please read the regulations very carefully, by doing so and by including all the documents required, you will save yourself time and many problems. Deadline for the winter semester is 1st September and for the summer semester 1st February.

Please note that tuition fees have been introduced in Austria. Depending on your nationality they amount to either € 363,36 or € 726,72.

Details can be found under: <http://www2.uibk.ac.at/studienabteilung/de/studienbeitrag.html> especially to the exemptions.

Passport and Visa Requirements

Students from EU/EWR countries and Switzerland coming to Austria need a valid passport to enter the country, to study and to work. Then you have the right to stay and work in Austria.

Students from USA and Japan (to whom the university's letter of admission is sent directly) may enter Austria without a visa and apply for the residence permit as a student with the necessary documents when in Innsbruck:

Bundespolizeidirektion Innsbruck – Fremdenpolizei

Kaiserjägerstrasse 8, A-6020 Innsbruck; Tel: +43 512 5900-0

Students from all other countries need a visa/residence permit (depending upon the policy of the Austrian Consulate General in your country) for entry and residence in Austria. This must without exception be applied for at the Austrian diplomatic mission in your country (www.bmaa.gv.at/up-media/oe\_vertretungen\_de.pdf) before leaving for Austria.

You will need following documents:

All documents which are not in German together with a certified German translation. Please note that this procedure can take several months and may cost up to € 150,- depending on the number of documents submitted.

The residence permit for students does not give you the right to work in Austria! This must be applied for separately and is possible in exceptional cases.

Obligatory registration

Within 3 workdays after arrival you must register as a resident of Innsbruck. To do so you fetch a registration form called "Meldezettel" from: the Residents Registration Office, Maria-Theresien-Straße 18, 1st floor (Mon-Thurs 8.00 – 17.30 and Fri 8.00 – 12.00) and have it signed by your landlord. For the registration you will also need your passport.

Nonobservance leads to a penalty of up to € 72.67.

If you are not from an EU/EEA country or Switzerland you must also go to the main police station Bundespolizeidirektion, Kaiserjägerstraße 8, "Fremdenpolizei", to explain the reason for your stay in Austria. You will need your passport and confirmation of registration.

Registration in Innsbruck

Registration at the University

University Admission Department

In order to enrol as a student you must go to the University Admission Department (Studienabteilung) on the ground floor of the main building, (Monday – Friday 9.00-12.00) with the "Mitteilung" from Innsbruck University (sent to you in advance), your passport and a passport photo.

Three forms must be filled in: Antrag auf Erlass des Studienbeitrages, Meldungsblatt and Statistikblatt. Then you receive a pay slip for the compulsory Students Union membership of € 14,86 and an e-mail account.

You go to the basement below the Admission Department where you are photographed for your student ID-card. You pay the membership at one of the 12 service points in the various university buildings using the student ID-card. This card includes a quick electronic purse chip which can be topped up at a nearby bank or by using the pay slip (it then takes about a week until the student ID-card is activated). Once the student ID-card is activated you can use it in combination with your personal pincode to print proof of registration called "Fortsetzungsbestätigung" and a paper for inclusion of your exams called "Studienbuchblatt".

Freemovers must also pay the tuition fees of € 363,36 or € 726,72 at the beginning of each semester.

Equivalence of academic achievements

Freemovers coming to Innsbruck to continue studies started at the home university must apply for recognition of their previous exams. To this purpose the freemover must contact the person responsible for the respective subject area. This can however not be done before acceptance as a degree student and starting studies in Innsbruck.

German Language Requirements

Since teaching is almost without exception held in German you must have a sufficient level of competence in German to attend lectures and pass examinations.

Language test

Exchange Student

You do not have to take a language exam in advance, since your home Socrates Institutional Coordinator has confirmed your knowledge by signing the Socrates/Erasmus Certificate. We strongly recommend improving your German before coming to Innsbruck since your lectures here will almost certainly be held in German.

Freemover

To study at Innsbruck you must take an exam in German before being accepted as a degree student otherwise you can only be accepted as a non-degree student until you have passed the official university German language examination. If you have sufficient knowledge you can take the exam at the beginning of each semester and consequently be accepted as a degree student. As a non-degree student it is possible to visit the German course during semester and to take the exam afterwards (see below "German as a foreign language). For exact examination dates please contact the University Admission Department: Studienabteilung@uibk.ac.at.

Attention: in any case you must pay the full university tuition fees for each semester (€ 363,36 or € 726,72). Admission to the German language course only does not automatically entitle you to the enrolment as a degree student.

German language courses in summer

Summer courses are offered from July – August by the "Innsbrucker Hochschulkurse Deutsch" (IHD) at the University of Innsbruck: The basic 3 weeks course (60 lessons) costs € 400,- and the basic 6 weeks course (120 lessons) € 800,-.

For more information please see: www2.uibk.ac.at/ihd

Special Erasmus course

A German course for Erasmus incomings on 2 levels (for slightly advanced and advanced students) – including grammar, vocabulary, reading and understanding lessons is offered during each term and is free of charge. The courses are financed by the European Commission.

Details on these courses will be given to you at the Erasmus Welcome Meeting on the first day of each semester.

German as a foreign language

During each semester the course "Deutsch als Fremdsprache" is held on 3 levels (from beginners to advanced) for all foreign students at Innsbruck University. The beginner's course is free of charge only for those Socrates/Erasmus incomings who are not accepted in the special Erasmus course (due to their lack of knowledge in German). As a registered student the course (6 hours teaching a week) costs € 50,- on each level. Details can be found on the homepage of the International Language Center (ISI): www2.uibk.ac.at/service/isi/

Before leaving Innsbruck

Before you go home there are several things to do:

- Notify the Residents Registration Office (Mon-Thurs 8.00 – 17.30 and Fri 8.00 – 12.00) of your departure – during the last three days here.
- If you live in a student hostel give notice of your departure, give the key back and pay any open bills (telephone etc).
- If you opened a bank account here this must be closed.
- Make sure you have all the documents you will need after returning to your home university, e.g a certificate of each exam you have taken and confirmation of the completion of your Erasmus studies in Innsbruck. Exam results can only be printed at the service points using your ID-card. Students of International Economics and Business Studies receive an Academic Transcript at the IWW Büro.

IV. Services for Incoming Students

Austrian Exchange Service (ÖAD)

Accommodation
➡ Online

The Austrian Academic Exchange Service (ÖAD) will do its best to organize a room for you although only a limited number of rooms (especially single rooms) are available. ERASMUS and other official exchange programme students have priority; other students can only be accommodated as long as rooms are available.

Under <http://www.housing.oead.ac.at/innsbruck/dt/start.html>

you can apply online for accommodation. DO NOT FORGET to pay the reservation deposit (€ 400,-) otherwise you will get no room.

Deadline for the 1st semester is 31st July, deadline for the 2nd semester is 31st December. Nevertheless it is still "first come first served" so please do not wait until the last minute!!

There are double and single study-rooms; kitchen and bathroom are usually shared. Rooms are allocated after arrival of both application and deposit. Rooms are let by complete semesters only and cannot be quit during the semester. If you arrive later or leave earlier, you must pay for the whole period you applied for. For organizational reasons students coming for the winter semester must also pay for the month of February.

After reserving a room please observe the times and information sent to you by the students hostel. Plan your arrival according to these times, if possible, and announce your arrival early enough either by telephone or in writing.

Youth Hostels

If you have made no arrangements for accommodation in advance, you may choose to stay at a youth hostel for the first few days.

The two youth hostels in Innsbruck are:

- ➡ Jugendherberge Innsbruck,
Reichenauerstrasse 147; Tel: +43 (0) 512 34 61 79;
e-mail: office@youth-hostel-innsbruck.at
(take the bus R at the main station for two stops and then change to the O to the bus-stop "Jugendherberge") from € 14,50 per night and
- ➡ Jugendherberge St. Nikolaus,
Innstrasse 95; Tel.: +43 (0) 512 39 58 82; e-mail: innsbruck@hostelnikolaus.at
(take the bus D at the main station and get off at the bus-stop "Schmelzer-gasse") from € 15,80 per night.

Accommodation Self-organized Private Accommodation

Renting rooms or apartments on the free market is very difficult and expensive. According to the Tyrolean regional manager of the Austrian Union of Real Estate a one-room flat costs between € 350,- and € 450,-.

On the homepage of our Students Union: oeinfo@uibk.ac.at, click on Services "Wohnungsbörse". Here you will find information to accommodation. Another possibility is to search in the internet or by asking Erasmus students of your University already in Innsbruck. In the local newspaper Tiroler Tageszeitung (especially Wednesdays and Saturdays) and in the Innsbruck Stadtblatt there are advertisements for flats/rooms.

Health Care

Insurance

For EU and Norwegian Citizens

With an E-111 form from your country you are insured in emergency cases. With an E-128 form from your country you are insured in Austria during your stay. You must go to the Tiroler Gebietskrankenkasse, Klara-Pöltweg 2, with this E-128 form and there you will receive the papers to allow medical treatment like an Austrian citizen.

For all other countries

We recommend a voluntary insurance "Freiwillige Selbstversicherung für Studenten". This costs € 20,38 monthly and offers free medical treatment and a prescription fee of € 4,35 per prescribed article. You can join this insurance at the Tiroler Gebietskrankenkasse, Klara-Pöltweg 2, 2nd floor, room 228 with proof of registration "Fortsetzungsbestätigung" and the "Studienbuchblatt" (both available at the University Service Points with your student ID-card).

Accidents on the way to and from the university are covered by your Students Union membership.

You can choose a doctor yourself or go to the hospital (Universitätsklinik, Anichstraße 35). During the night or Sundays and holidays please contact the medical emergency duty (Tel: 141) and in emergency cases the ambulance service (Tel: 144). Which doctor has weekend or holiday duty can be found in the local newspaper.

Doctors can be found in the telephone book under "Ärzte". You may also turn to your Erasmus Coordinator, the Socrates Institutional Coordinator or her assistant at the International Relations Office.
